Director – Commendation Board

Dr. Sahdeo is a retired senior executive officer from the Ministry of Science and Technology, Government of India (Survey of India), with a distinguished public service career spanning several decades. Since his retirement on 1st February 2020, he has remained actively engaged in social service initiatives focused on the upliftment of weaker sections of society and the welfare of Central Government employees and officers.

Over the last 40 years, Dr. Sahdeo has contributed consistently to social development, community empowerment, and public awareness on critical national issues. His work reflects a strong commitment to inclusive growth, particularly in areas related to SC, ST, and OBC communities.

He has received multiple national and international recognitions for his service and social contributions, including lifetime achievement and excellence awards, and has been conferred an honorary doctorate in Social Services by a European–Asian university. He is also an author and public commentator, with more than 100 articles published in leading newspapers and magazines on contemporary social issues.

At AIPU, as Director – Commendation Board, Dr. Sahdeo plays a key role in guiding recognition and commendation initiatives, ensuring that acknowledgements are grounded in social impact, ethical contribution, and public value.
